

What are Badges and Journeys?

There really is no limit to what Girl Scouts can accomplish—but badges and Journeys are some of the main ways that girls build their Girl Scout experience.

BADGES

When a girl earns a badge, it represents that she's learned a new skill. Topics of badges range from outdoor skills to civic engagement—you name it, there's a badge for it! Badges are worn on the front of the girl's uniform. Daisy Girl Scouts (grades K-1) earn special "Petals" to wear on their uniforms.

JOURNEYS

Sometimes the journey is more important than the destination! In a Girl Scout Journey, leaders support girls through a series of activities, where together they will identify a problem, come up with a solution, and take action. Girls then earn Journey Awards that will go on the front of the uniform.
